

The new chairperson will have to deliver a credible presidential election as ordered by the courts.

A tweeter shared a photo of the incoming chairperson:

Report

Read:

- Malawi election: What the annulment means for democracy across Africa

12:40 1 Jun

Most Malawians 'more scared of hunger than Covid-19'

AFP

Malawians are being encouraged to wear face masks

A recently conducted poll has shown that 81% of Malawians are not afraid of coronavirus and are more concerned about hunger.

Those aged above 55 are least afraid of the virus despite them being at higher risks than the younger population.

About 60% of those polled are more concerned about the collapse of the healthcare system.

Another 76% say they are afraid of stigma if they catch the virus.

The poll was conducted between 7 and 28 May by Malawi's Institute of Public Opinion and Research (Ipor) and the Swedish researchers.

IPOR Malawi
@IPORMalawi

NEW FINDINGS ON #COVID19 IN MALAWI:

Our latest research with @GLD_Gothenburg reveals that Malawians don't Fear #COVID19 as much as:

hunger
loss of access to healthcare and stigma

See full findings: bit.ly/3clv3zq

Report

Malawi's Nation newspaper, which tweeted its front page earlier, also has a story about doctors warning of a "Covid-19 time bomb":

35 23 people are Tweeting about this

Report

The southern African nation has recorded 284 cases of Covid-19, the respiratory disease caused by coronavirus.

17:30 29 May

Malawi VP's campaign convoy stoned

Saulos Chilima has fallen out with President Peter Mutharika

The convoy of Malawi's Vice-President Saulos Chilima has been stoned in Phalombe, which is in the south of the country.

It is the home area of President Peter Mutharika, who has fallen out with his deputy.

Mr Chilima is currently on the campaign trail as the running mate of Lazarus Chakwera, the leader of the main opposition UTM party, in elections expected to be held within the next month.

A video posted by the private Malawian broadcaster Zodiak shows the convoy coming under attack: